

Above—Mrs. Theodore Douglas Robinson, sister of the late Col. Roosevelt, at the corner stone exercises.
Copyright, International.

Major-Gen. Leonard Wood laying the corner stone of the Roosevelt House, the memorial to Theodore Roosevelt, to be erected on the site of his birthplace at 28 East Twentieth street. The ceremonies were held in the presence of a distinguished gathering, which included notables from abroad.
Copyright, International.

At right—Three prominent figures at the laying of the Roosevelt House corner stone: Left to right, Major-Gen. Leonard Wood, Gen. Robert Nivelle of the French army and Jules Jusserand, French Ambassador to the United States.
Photo by Paul Thompson.

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., at the Roosevelt House ceremonies, which took place on the second anniversary of the former President's death.
Copyright, International.

Above—Wire entanglements being erected around the Dublin City Hall in preparation for military occupation by the British.
Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.

Stage celebrities, fighters, fight promoters and society folk gathered at the auction sale of seats for the Leonard-Mitchell bout for the benefit of devastated France. The picture shows (left to right) Benny Leonard, Miss Anne Morgan, and Ritchie Mitchell.
Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.

Major-Gen. Enoch H. Crowder, who was sent to Cuba on President Wilson's orders in interest of remedying the financial, economic and political situation there.
Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.

Recent portrait of the Earl of Reading, former Lord Chief Justice of England and British Ambassador to Washington, who has been named as the new Viceroy of India.
Copyright, Bachrach.

Dr. Michael Hainisch, the recently elected President of the Austrian Republic. He is the son of Marianne Hainisch, the famous Austrian representative of women's rights.
Copyright, Wide World.